1 bread [bred] n. — хлеб
Food made from flour and baked in an oven.
→ He eats his old dry bread.

2 shop [ʃɒp] n. — магазин
A place where you buy things.
→ He walks past a bread shop.

3 window ['wɪndəʊ] n. — окно
The glass opening in a wall.
→ The window is open.

4 smell [smel] n./v. — запах; нюхать
What your nose knows.
→ A warm smell comes out.

5 baker ['beɪkə] n. — пекарь
A person who makes bread.
→ Today the baker is angry.

6 judge [dʒʌdʒ] n. — судья
A person who says who is right.
→ We are going to the judge!

7 coin [kɔɪn] n. — монета
Round metal money.
→ Karim has three small coins.

8 sound [saʊnd] n. — звук
What your ears hear.
→ The coins make a happy sound.

9 pay [peɪ] v. — платить
To give money for something.
→ Now he pays you.

10 crowd [kraʊd] n. — толпа
A lot of people together.
→ Now all the crowd is laughing.

Useful phrases from the story

every morning — каждое утро
Every morning he stops at that window.
that is not fair — это несправедливо
That is not fair!

The Smell and the Sound

1

This is Karim. He works every day. He has no money.

Every morning he walks past a bread shop. The window is open.

A warm smell comes out. Karim stops. He closes his eyes.

Now he is smelling the warm bread. Then he eats his old dry bread and he walks to work.

2

But look! Today the baker is angry.

“You are stealing my smell! Pay me!” he shouts.

“I never touch your bread!” Karim says.

“Then we are going to the judge!”

Now all the people are walking to the judge’s house. They want to see this!

3

The judge is listening. “Karim, do you have any money?”

Karim has three small coins. The judge takes them.

Now he is shaking his hand. The coins make a happy sound.

“Baker, do you hear it?” “Yes! That is money!”

“Good. This man smells your bread. You hear his money. Now he pays you.”

Now all the crowd is laughing. And Karim? Every morning he stops at that window.