1 forest [ˈfɒrɪst] n. — лес
A big place with a lot of trees.
→ Many animals live in the forest.

2 hunt [hʌnt] v. — охотиться
To look for animals and catch them.
→ Lions hunt when they are hungry.

3 afraid [əˈfreɪd] adj. — напуганный, боящийся
You feel afraid when something is dangerous.
→ My little sister is afraid of dogs.

4 deal [di:l] n. — сделка, договор
Two people agree: I do this, you do that.
→ “You help me and I help you.” — “OK, it’s a deal!”

5 cave [keɪv] n. — пещера
A big hole in a hill or in a rock. Animals sleep in it.
→ The bear sleeps in a cave in winter.

6 slowly [ˈsləʊli] adv. — медленно
Not fast.
→ The old man walks slowly to the shop.

7 angry [ˈæŋgri] adj. — сердитый, злой
You feel angry when you don’t like something.
→ My teacher is angry because I am late again.

8 late [leɪt] adj. — поздний, опоздавший
You come after the right time.
→ The bus is late today.

9 well [wel] n. — колодец
A deep hole in the ground with water in it.
→ The women take water from the well every morning.

10 shout [ʃaʊt] v. — кричать
To speak very loudly.
→ Please don’t shout — I can hear you!

Useful phrases from the story

make a deal — договориться, заключить сделку
The animals make a deal with the lion.
be afraid of — бояться (чего-то)
I am not afraid of the dark.

The Lion and the Little Rabbit

1

A big lion lives in the forest. Every day he hunts. He is very strong and all the animals are afraid.

One day the animals come to him.

“Please stop hunting,” they say. “Every day, one animal walks to your cave. You eat, and you don’t hunt. Is it a good deal?”

The lion is happy. “Yes! Now I don’t work. I only eat.”

2

Every day one animal walks to the cave. Today it is a little rabbit.

The rabbit walks very slowly. He is thinking.

The lion is angry. “You are late! And you are very small!”

“I am sorry,” says the rabbit. “But there is another lion in this forest. He is coming here now. He says, ‘This forest is my forest.’”

“WHAT?” The lion stands up. “Where is he? I am the king here!”

“Come with me,” says the rabbit.

3

The rabbit takes the lion to an old well. He looks into the water for a long time.

“He is down there,” says the rabbit. “He is looking at you.”

The lion looks into the well. Another lion is looking at him. The lion opens his mouth. The other lion opens his mouth, too.

“This is MY forest!” the lion shouts.

He jumps.

Now the animals are walking in the forest and nobody is afraid. And every young rabbit stops at that well. He looks down at the water for a long, long time before he drinks.