A Weekend at Home

My friend Rustam invited me to a party on Saturday, but I didn't go. I had a lot of homework and I didn't have time. I stayed at home and studied for three hours.

On Sunday I went out. I met my cousin at the mall. We didn't buy anything because the shops looked too expensive, but we ate pizza and took a lot of photos. We saw our old teacher too, and she bought us ice cream.

In the evening I came home, made tea and wrote a message to Rustam. He didn't answer, so I read a book. I didn't sleep late: I went to bed at ten.
