Night at the Cinema

Last night Kamola went to the cinema to see a new action movie. She was very excited about it because the trailer was exciting and the soundtrack was amazing. Her friend Dilnoza wasn't so interested, but she came too.

The first hour was boring. The hero was just driving around and talking, and Dilnoza was bored. She looked at her phone twice. Kamola was a little disappointed, but she hoped the film would get better.

Then something surprising happened. The hero was not the real hero! The ending was shocking, and the whole audience was surprised. When they left the cinema, Dilnoza said, “I was bored at first, but the ending was amazing!” Kamola smiled. “I told you.”
