In the Newsroom

It's nine o'clock in the morning and the newsroom is very busy. The editor, Mrs. Rashidova, has already read the main story, but she hasn't chosen the headline yet. She has just talked to the photographers, and they haven't sent their pictures yet.

A young reporter has just arrived from the press conference. He has already written two paragraphs on his laptop. “The mayor has announced a new bridge,” he says. “Has anybody called the mayor's assistant yet?” “Not yet,” says the editor. “Please do it now.”

The deadline is at noon. Everybody is working fast. At eleven the headline is ready: “New Bridge for Tashkent!” The editor smiles. “Good work. Now let's start tomorrow's paper.”
