Match Day

It's Saturday afternoon and the stadium is filling up. “Look at the crowd,” says Aziz. “It's going to be packed!” His friend Jasur looks at the sky. “It's going to rain, I think. Look at those clouds.”

“I don't think it'll rain,” says Aziz. “The match will probably start on time, and I'm sure our team will win. They're playing really well this season.” Jasur smiles. “I hope you're right. But the other team is strong. It will be a difficult game.”

Inside, the fans are already singing. The entrance is crowded, and there is a long line for drinks. “We're going to miss the beginning!” says Jasur. They run. It's going to be a great evening.
