Weekend Options

Madina hasn't decided what to do on Saturday. She has a lot of options. She might go to the water park with her cousins, or she could visit the new exhibition at the gallery. Her friend wants to play bowling, so that's another possibility.

The weather isn't clear. It may rain in the afternoon, so Madina probably won't go to the picnic. “I'll check the forecast tomorrow,” she says. Her brother might come with her, but he has a lot of homework, so maybe he won't.

In the end, she makes a plan: if it's sunny, she'll go to the water park; if it rains, she'll visit the gallery. “Keeping your options open is the best idea,” she says. What do you think?
