The rule: should / shouldn't and could / couldn't should = it is a good idea (advice): You should drink some water. You shouldn't eat lots of cakes. Same for ALL people (no -s): He should go to bed.

Question: Should I take medicine? Yes, you should. / No, you shouldn't.
could = the past of can: Now: I can swim. When I was four: I could paint, but I couldn't read. couldn't = the past of can't.
Question in the past: Could you swim when you were four? Yes, I could. / No, I couldn't.
After should / could: the BASE verb (no to, no -s, no -ing): You should drink. He couldn't eat.

Watch out (we often say...)
